Site Generator   10.2017
Built Website to generate personal pages for visitors, utilizing "State" to store user data using React, while making use of React Router for site navigation. Designed an asynchronous recursive function to send all the pictures to an API for remote storage. Coded stateless functions to improve performance and memory usage.

SoundLand   09.2017 - Current
An in progress, full CRUD group project with user authentication.
The site employs React and Express, Integrating two APIs and user input to research location based musical preference patterns.
Spearheaded the design pattern for the Database logic, the React interface, and the React Router's final logic.

Simon Says   07.2017
A Simon Says game entirely out of JavaScript constructors, using industry standard ES6 syntax. Developed an elaborate function to flash the colors in sequence and implemented logic to prevent the player from being able to click the buttons as they flash.
